RESTAURANT ENDE DER WELT

The name Horbis comes from the Alemannic (horo, horwes) and refers to a swampy meadow. However, the Horbis valley must have been cultivated very early, because the Marienkapelle was already built in 1489. It is the oldest chapel in the valley. It was built thanks to the donation of Abbot Nicholas II Buolmann, who for unknown reasons was given the nickname "Gratis". Abbot Placidus Küttel enlarged it in 1635, and it was renovated in 1699, 1901 and 1965. In 1900, the Infanger family opened a summer inn next to the house of Horbis. They started with a simple bar in a small drinking hall. It was not until 1905 that a drivable road to Horbis was built. On June 10, 1935, the house was destroyed by fire, but in the same year a new building was started. The inn has been located in the house ever since. Since November 1, 1986 Martha and Noldy Bissig-Zurfluh have been running the restaurant. The reconstruction in 1997 brought a beautiful terrace and a big kitchen. In 2020 the remaining part of the house had to give way to a new building. In autumn 2020 the new house with a cosy restaurant could be inaugurated.

We wish you a pleasant stay in our traditional house.
